

COOK IS HELD FAST

He Was Discharged on One Defective Process

TO BE ARRESTED ON ANOTHER

He Stands Charged With Sundry Embellishments Aggregating a Large Sum.

George M. Cook, who is charged with embezzling about $1,000 from the Phoenix Furniture company, was on trial in the superior court yesterday, and after some few questions had been asked the information was quashed, and Cook was discharged, but as he left the court room he slipped back into the clutches of the law. Cook's attorney, N. F. Allen, objected to any testimony being taken, on the ground that there was no warrant against his client. Judge Burlingame overruled the objection.

The warrant charged Cook with embezzling on July 6, but it was discovered after the papers were drawn that he took but $200 on that date and that most of his stealings were committed before that date. Mr. Allen next objected to the case proceeding owing to errors in the papers. In one place the name of the complaining witness, R. W. Merrill, was substituted for that of the respondent making it appear that Mr. Merrill had stolen from the company. In another place the name of the respondent was left blank. Mr. Allen made a motion to quash which was done. In the new warrant on which he was re-arrested the mistakes were corrected and the date was fixed far enough in the past to cover all his stealings which amount to about $2,000. He is charged with taking this sum on ninety-five separate occasions. Had Mr. Allen allowed the case to go to trial Cook could not possibly have been convicted of embezzling more than $200 on account of the date in the warrant.

BLACK AND DINGY WALLS.
Judge Burlingame Wants Them Brightened Up a Bit.

Monday night the committee on buildings recommended that the superior court room be kalsomined, but it was tabled. During the debate on the adoption of the report, somebody said the report was made at the request of Judge Burlingame, who was to have some sort of ceremonies soon in the court room. Inquiry of Judge Burlingame yesterday elicited the fact that next week N. A. Fletcher, acting for the children of Judge Holmes, will present to the court a splendid picture of Judge Holmes. The occasion will be one of unusual solemnity and the members of the Kent county bar will be present. The judge is somewhat ashamed of the black and dingy walls of his court room and would like to see them touched up a little.

SUES FOR A DIVORCE.

One Day of Married Life Was Enough For John Lawyer.

In her bill of complaint filed yesterday with the clerk of the circuit court Mrs. Polly Lawyer charges her husband John H. Lawyer, with desertion and non-support. He deserted her June 1, 1887, and has persisted in such desertion since that date and has within that time contributed nothing toward her maintenance. The parties were married in the township of Boone May 31, 1887, and according to the statement in the bill of complaint John deserted his wife the next day following the marriage. The complainant asks for a dissolution of their marriage on the grounds above stated.

Case of Boy Horse Trading.

A replevin suit in Justice DeWolf's court yesterday brought by Frank Kampfschulte against John S. Daniels to recover a pony was decided in favor of the plaintiff. Kampfschulte, a boy 13 years old, traded his pony to Daniels for a comparatively worthless horse. The evidence in the case showed that the boy was induced to make the trade by misrepresentations on the part of Daniels, and when the boy's friends told him that he had been beaten he went to Daniels and wanted to declare the trade off. Daniels would not listen to the proposition, and the boy recovered his pony by a writ of replevin, which was sustained by the court.

Hard Fought Case.

The trial of Howard Ravenscroft and Lawrence Paugborn, the small boys who were arrested on Spring street by Officer Brown a few nights since for throwing stones and boisterously yelling, engaged the attention of Judge Haggerty nearly all day yesterday. The case was a trivial one but was stubbornly fought by the boys' attorneys, Walbridge Brown and Assistant City Attorney Carroll. It was a jury trial and the case was given to it at 3:30 last evening. After having been out about two hours the jury disagreed, four being for conviction and two for acquittal.

Were Not Disorderly.

The charges of disorderly against Charles Teitron, Maud Worden and Kitty Armstrong was collo pressed in police court yesterday on motion of the city attorney on the payment of $2 costs each. They were arrested some time ago with Carlos Campbell in Ackley & Frost's saloon on East Grand street. Carrie pleaded guilty a few days ago and paid her fine. The evidence in court showed her to be the one who was disorderly and not her associates.

Trouble Over a Writ.

On November 7, 1891, Channey A. Lillibridge, of Walker township, took possession of a team of horses belonging to Thomas Lillibridge of the same township, by virtue of a writ of attachment issued by Justice Hydon. The owner of the team procured a dissolution of the writ in Justice Adair's court, and recovered possession of the property within twenty days after it had been attached. He began a suit in the circuit court yesterday against Channey A. Lillibridge in a plea of trespass on the case to recover damages at $300. The complainant alleges that his team was retained in a livery barn, and that it was neglected. The horses were considerably reduced in flesh from such neglect, his business was injured from being deprived of his team, and he was occasioned much trouble and expense in procuring the dissolution of the writ. These are the grounds upon which the suit is based.

Grand Jury in Session.

The grand jury began its labors in the United States court yesterday afternoon and Louis L. Launier of this city was elected foreman. The jury is composed of the following members: Johnson Bennett, Three Rivers; Henry D. Loveless, Rockford; Russell J. Stowe, Grand Rapids; C. A. Brink, Lakeview; William M. Broadwell, Bangor; H. S. Case, Acme; Scott Crawford, Spencer; Pierce Kinsella, Boyne Falls; Alway D. Buford, Otsego; C. W. Williams, Keweenaw; William Hugh, Jr., Morley; Heber Walsh, Holland; Martin V. Barker, Hastings; A. Lewis, Naomig; James Dobb, Bear Lake; Claus F. Peterson, Grand Rapids; Amos C. Coote, Niles; William Conright, Newaygo; Lyman Gates, Kalamazoo; John Stockdale, Allegan; A. C. Martin, Paw Paw; Joseph C. McKee, Grand Rapids; Lewis L. Launier, Grand Rapids.

Won the Case.

Yesterday morning the Hon. T. F. McGarry received a dispatch from Lansing, announcing that the celebrated pianist and composer, Frank R. Chase vs. F. O. Boughton and Franklin Lee had been decided by the supreme court in favor of the plaintiff, who was Mr. McGarry's client. The case involved about $200,000 and attracted much attention at the time it was tried before Judge Judkins.

Patrick Was Acquitted.

William Patrick was acquitted in police court yesterday on a charge of larceny preferred by Henzie the street saloonist. He was accused of having stolen a parcel containing a pair of pantaloons and a vest belonging to Henzie from his saloon Friday afternoon. The evidence was not sufficient to sustain the charge.

Decree for a Foreclosure.

Gertrude T. Griffin was given a decree in foreclosure yesterday by Judge Adair against Levi T. Gartner, et al., for the sum of $302.34, being the amount of a mortgage and interest given by the defendants on a piece of land situated in the southwest quarter of section one of town nine north of range eleven west.

Presented the Resolutions.

C. W. Verneite procured a hotel license for the Iowa house and the case against him in police court for running a hotel without a license was dismissed yesterday.

A POOR HITCHING POST.

The Strange Misfortune of a Chicago Washerwoman.

While the sun was trying to shine yesterday afternoon a woman came out of a little house that stands almost under the shadow of the Clark street viaduct, jammed up against the warehouses, the railroad tracks and the limp river. She was a woman of girth and puff and she carried a basket of dumped washing that bumped on her knees.

Setting the basket down she lifted a coil of rope and looked about for a moment, as if selecting something to lasso. One end of the rope she fastened to a nail in the corner of her dingy kitchen. The other end she twisted about a telegraph pole thirty feet away. Then she strung the line with seeping dannels and a few white articles that dripped with indignity.

When the line was crowded full the basket was not empty. There were no more telegraph poles. The slack of the line would not reach back to the house. On the sidewalk stood the freight cars that had been there since Saturday evening. The woman unlatched the rope from the telegraph pole and found that it would reach the end of the car. She tied it there. After filling her mouth with cloths she decorated the new section with some white shirts and other things that waved phantom gestures in the smoky air. This being accomplished, she took a small bucket and went in the general direction of Kinzie street.

No sooner had she disappeared than a freight engine came backing down and cautiously approached the two cars. A business man with his arms crossed and a bump. The festoon of domestic wear dropped until the pillow cases dragged in the clinders. The brakeman waved his arms again, the cars moved, the line lifted itself, tightened, and just as the woman came around the corner there was a snap. The rope with its fluttering attachments waved like the tail of a kite as the cars rolled away. The woman was asthmatic, and gave up the chase after a few hundred yards. As for the brakeman and engineer, they did not know what had happened until they took an inventory at a way station.—Chicago News Record.

What He Put in His Bed.

An English bishop, returning from a tour of the states, occupied a large double cabin with his wife, who was somewhat quizzical and exacting. One night during a storm the lady complained of close air and her spouse arose and opened a porthole, whereupon a big wooden ball bobbed in and kept on bobbing. The bishop knotted up its string and hung it on the wall of the cabin; it bumped as the vessel rocked, and annoyed the lady further. So the patient bishop let out the loops and put the ball under his pillow, after which peace and slumber reigned. The next day at dinner he recounted his adventures of the night, and, brilled with intense delight at the roars of laughter which greeted the story, the captain recovered sufficiently to gasp: "Why, man—ah—that is, my lord—that ball you slept on hangs at the end of the ship's lightning conductor!"—Paris Figaro.

What Patents Have Done.

Disparagement of patents is common and easy, says the Iron Industry Gazette, but it should not be forgotten by those who sneer at inventors that, out of a total of over $8,000,000,000 of capital invested in manufacturing in the United States, patents form the basis for the investment of about $6,000,000,000. Evidently the United States system of encouraging invention, that has resulted in the production of over 400,000 inventions, is a system that is exceedingly wise and valuable. The one thing that has enabled manufacturers to make so wonderful progress in the United States is the patent system.

Suggestions for a Summer Trip.

If you wish to take the trip of a lifetime, purchase the low rate tourist tickets sold by all principal lines in the United States and Canada via the Northern Pacific railroad to Yellowstone National Park, Pacific coast and Alaska. The trip is made with the highest degree of comfort in the elegant vestibule trains of the Northern Pacific railroad, which carry dining cars and luxurious Pullman sleeping cars from Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis to Montana and the Pacific coast, without change, and speed Pullman sleepers from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Yellowstone Park.

The scenery en route is the most magnificent to be found in the seven states through which the road passes. Beautiful mountains, rivers, valleys, lakes and plains follow each other in rapid succession to delight the tourists who will also find interest in the agricultural, mining, lumbering, industrial and other interests associated with the development of the great northwest. The crowning glory of the trip through the northwest, however, is the visit to Yellowstone Park, the land of hot springs, geysers and gorgeous canyons, and to Alaska, with its endless ocean channels, snow-capped peaks, Indian villages and giant glaciers.

If you wish to investigate this suggestion further send to Charles S. Fee, general passenger agent, N. P. R. R., St. Paul, Minn., for copies of the hand-somely illustrated "Wonderland" book, Yellowstone Park and Alaska folders.
